

Acting Opposition leader Michael Daley's concerns about a lack of public transport to the new development at Pagewood (Triguboff Development, Herald July 19) can easily be solved.

The Labor Party can commit to the extension of the light rail or to the metro rail proposed in the NSW government's long-term transport plan all the way to Pagewood. A hundred years ago trams went to La Perouse and the easement for the route is still available.

Labor should encourage more development on this peninsular located so close to jobs and to amenities like beaches by committing to a public transport spine.
