Hadley says Roads Minister Duncan Gay said latte sipping inner city anti road people need to experience life in the suburbs to appreciate the importance of the motorways. Hadley says Gay has said there is an increasing anti road movement in Sydney and they conveniently forget that there are thousands who need to drive long distances. Hadley says there is a digitally altered image of Gay on a bike with Clover Moore, Sydney Lord Mayor. Hadley says Gay has buddied up as a project manager on a series of new bike paths in the CBD and yesterday said the Government would build a bike path to Sydney Airport. Hadley says the boss of the Urban Taskforce described the idea of bike paths to the airport as wacky.
